Roxanne Canales Honored for Commitment to County Investment Education

GUADALUPE COUNTY, TX—Roxanne Canales, Guadalupe County first assistant county auditor, was recently recognized by the Texas Association of Counties (TAC) for her five years of exceptional dedication to county investment education. The award was presented during the 2025 Conference of the County Investment Academy, held June 16-18 in Corpus Christi.

The Texas Public Funds Investment Act requires county commissioners courts to appoint a county investment officer to invest county funds. These officers and their investment staff must comprehensively understand sound investment policies and adhere to the Act's stringent requirements.

Guadalupe County Auditor Kris Klein, states, "We're thrilled to recognize Roxanne Canales, our first assistant county auditor, for her outstanding commitment to County Investment Education. Her deep knowledge, proactive leadership, and tireless dedication to transparency have set a standard of excellence within our office. Roxanne continues to go above and beyond to ensure our financial practices are not only sound, but accessible and understandable to the public. This recognition is well-deserved, and we're proud to have her leading the way."

Canales was also recently honored with a 15-year service award from Guadalupe County for her ongoing professional work on the financial team.

Since 1992, TAC has been providing formal education for county investors through its County Investment Academy, formerly called County Investment Officer training. Participants become members of the Academy by completing the Basics of County Investing Course.
